DIARY NOTES

ADD/A [REDACTED]

28 April 1953

25X1A9a

1. [REDACTED] and Shef Edwards advised me that they were studying the President's most recent order on security and would give us a full briefing as soon as they could finish their analyses.

2. Arranged for a switch to be installed in General Cabell's Office so that he can hear his telephone when he is working alone.

25X1A9a

3. Also instructed [REDACTED] to insure that outside calls to the Offices of the Director, Deputy Director, Deputy Director (Plans), Deputy Director (Intelligence), and Deputy Director (Administration) were switched to the Watch Officer when they were not answered.

4. After telephone calls from [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] concerning space for their Laboratory, met with [REDACTED] and [REDACTED]. Instructed them to attempt to extend the lease on the Rosslyn property for one more year with a thirty-day option to terminate.

5. [REDACTED] advises that General Cabell wants to push the Army and insist that they order [REDACTED] back for an interview. General Cabell wants to call the Pentagon himself but will consult with General Morris and get all of the details before doing so. I have alerted General Morris.

6. Mr. Pforzheimer telephoned to say that we had received a form letter from Senator Styles Bridges requesting a report on all office space occupied [REDACTED] other than that obtained through the General Services Administration. I told Mr. Pforzheimer to coordinate this with the Logistics Office but that it appeared to me that our letter should merely say that our space was being reported by the General Services Administration.

7. Matt Baird was in to say that the information which he and [REDACTED] had given to me yesterday concerning air conditioning for the Recreation and Services Building was incorrect. He stated that there were actually thirty-one rooms for which there would be no air conditioning units installed and that outside rooms had not been provided for at all. He believed that it might be impossible to use some of these rooms this summer unless we got them air conditioned and I reassured him of our interest in solving this problem but told him that I frankly saw no way to do it unless Mr. Dulles could get permission to spend more money for this purpose.

1. Returned to the Chief, General Services Office, via the Regulations Control Staff, their proposed Notice No. [REDACTED] (STANDARDIZATION OF FILING SUPPLIES) with the following note: "I think that the objective of standardizing filing supplies is a good one. However, acceptance of this principle by Agency offices affected cannot be taken for granted. Since we are trying to introduce the concept of a good Records Management Program, it should not be associated with any impression that changes are being made arbitrarily without advance discussion. Changes are always more palatable when those affected have been consulted. Before publishing the proposed Notice, I believe you should get concurrences from principal using offices." (ER-3-9598A)
